

MES Family Update - November 25, 2020

Good afternoon MES Families,

We hope that everyone has had a nice short week. We are hoping that, even though this will be far from the traditional Thanksgiving celebration, everyone gets a chance to rest and relax a little bit and enjoy some time with family.

A couple of things for you before we kick-off the holiday weekend:

*We are planning another MES Virtual Family Forum on Tuesday, December 1st at 6:00 p.m. It'll be an opportunity for us to share where we are at this point in the school year, what we continue to learn from weekly Department of Public Health/State Department of Education meetings and meetings with Chatham Health, and provide you with an opportunity to ask any questions that you might have as we begin the month of December. Superintendent Dr. David Sklarz, our School Nurse Alice Mecca and Russell Melmed, Director of Health for the Chatham Health District are all planning on being in the Zoom meeting as well. We will send out the Zoom meeting link to all families on Monday.

*The PTO Online Book Fair continues through December 4th. Book orders of $25 or more qualify for free shipping. Please see the link

Have a terrific Thanksgiving holiday and a nice long weekend.

Take care,
